

Strike Fever Spreading To Rail, Water Transportation

(By The Associated Press)
Threats of strikes against the nation's rail and water transportation systems brought further gloom today to the country's already darkened labor front.

Following announcement that 14 non-operating railroad brotherhoods would take a strike vote within the next six weeks, the national convention of maritime unions, representing more than 160,000 workers, approved a joint nationwide walkout starting June 15 unless an agreement is reached with employers on issues of wages and working conditions.

The two strike threats came as the effects of the crippling 39-day-old strike by 400,000 soft coal miners spread throughout the country, hitting virtually every industry and business.

Million Plus Idle
With additional thousands of workers being laid off daily because of the fuel shortage, the number of idle because of labor disputes moved past the 1,100,000 mark, including about a half million made idle because of the lack of fuel.

The strike call by the national convention of maritime unions, meeting in San Francisco, was drafted by a 33-man committee of delegates from seven unions. It is not final, however, as the convention voted the decision be referred to the membership, but observers predicted approval would be given. The workers have been demanding 30 per cent wage increases.

The threat of a rail strike was disclosed by E. Jones, general chairman of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad, at Denison, Tex., who said the 14-non-operating unions, representing more than 1,000,000 employees, would take a strike vote between May 20 and June 15. He said the brotherhoods were seeking a 14 cents hourly pay boost in addition to the 16 cents granted by an arbitration board last month.

Rail Strike May 18
A strike has been called for May 18 by the Brotherhoods of Railroad Trainmen and Locomotive Engineers, representing more than 200,000 employees, while unions representing the conductors, switchmen and locomotive firemen and engineers said they would take a strike ballot unless they are granted an additional wage boost of $1.20.

Threatened Walkout of 3,000
Bell Telephone company operators and clerical workers in Detroit was averted as the company and union reached agreement on several disputed issues.

Spokesmen for the Independent Michigan Telephone Employees Association and the company said they had signed a new contract terms providing for withdrawal of a "company security" provision and granting of the dues checkoff. The walkout was scheduled today.

Freight Embargo
Steam-powered railroads pushed efforts today to meet a midnight deadline on a sweeping freight embargo and a 25 per cent slash in passenger service as coal stocks available to the government for emergency distribution dropped to less than a half day's normal supply.

The critical fuel situation brought on by the 39-day-old soft coal strike resulted in several government steps aimed at stretching existing stockpiles.

The Civilian Production Administration called on electric companies in coal-burning areas of more than a score of eastern and midwestern states to ration power, starting with a "brownout" and progressing to a blackout of all but the most essential services. Steps were also in preparation for rationing manufactured gas.

Ford Plant Closes
The ever-widening effects of the strike continued to hit hard at the nation's economy, with the total number of idle coal diggers and workers in coal-dependent industries soaring past 869,000. The jobless included 418,000 AFL-United Mine Workers and Progressive Miners (Ind.), 51,000 railroad workers and 400,000 in industries served by railroads.

The coal strike, which already had struck crippling blows at the steel industry, cut into the automobile output today. The Ford Motor company announced the immediate layoff of 110,000 workers, between 85,000 and 90,000 of them in the Detroit area, and furloughing of additional auto production employees was predicted.

General Motors and Chrysler Corp. announced the impending suspension of production in their assembly plants as a result of the rail embargo. GM reported its plants would be closed within the next 10 days and Chrysler said all passenger car assembly lines will be down next week.

Pittsburgh, May 9 (AP) — Putting into effect the ODT order to cut its passenger service 25 per cent, the Pennsylvania railroad at midnight tonight will discontinue temporarily 46 trains in an area bounded roughly by Wheeling, W. Va., Columbus, O., Erie, Pa., Rochester, N. Y., and Altoona, Pa.

DEPRESSION IS PREDICTED BY BANKER PANEL

Plan for a depression within the next three to five years. That was the unanimous expression of a board of experts which Wednesday evening discussed trends of banking before a meeting of the Adams County Bankers' Association at the Hotel Gettysburg.

Because of the expected regression within the next few years the members of the panel urged bankers to be "doubly careful" that they do not "over-loan" individuals and corporations during the present period. "It is up to the banker to try to foresee for the individual what the future will bring and to keep him from going into debt head-over-heels. That is your job and that, really is what every customer expects from his banker, financial help that will really help and not, in a few years, prove a hindrance to him," Harry C. Culshaw, vice president of the Pennsylvania Company, Philadelphia, and member of the faculty of the graduate school of banking of the American Bankers' Association, Rutgers university, declared.

Others on Panel
Other members of the panel were Dr. William A. Irwin, economist for the American Bankers' Association, New York city, who acted as moderator for the discussion; Charles F. Zimmerman, president of the First National bank, of Huntingdon, and secretary of the Pennsylvania Bankers' Association; and Edmund W. Thomas, president of the First National bank here and vice president of the PBA.

Much of the discussion had to do with mortgages of new homes which the panel felt was "one of the biggest jobs facing the bankers in the near future."

All agreed that the problem of mortgages was a difficult one at present with two main factors: What is a fair value for the homes being built? How to best serve the individual seeking the loan?

Irwin pointed out that estimates of home building show that 12 million homes are needed in the United States, many of them for the six and a half million couples who married during the war years.

Inflated Prices
Mr. Zimmerman said that at present home prices are "inflated by about 25 per cent" and the only possible criterion for fair value of homes at present is "the horse sense of the bankers themselves."

Mr. Thomas pointed out that "fair value depends on who does the appraising." (Continued on Page 2)

STRIKE MAIMS RR MOVES HERE

The Reading company's last passenger train, for the duration of the embargo, left for Harrisburg this morning. Friday morning the last regularly scheduled freight train out of Gettysburg to Harrisburg over the Reading will make its final run until the coal situation eases off, road officials announced today.

All runs were annulled temporarily to allow crew members to seek other jobs on the railroad if they have seniority over men now engaged on the remaining trains.

A number of the men in the freight yards of the Reading will be furloughed temporarily and it was believed many probably will seek other posts on the Reading, possibly at Harrisburg, until the normal traffic is resumed here.

It was announced that the Reading is planning to run a freight train to Gettysburg from Harrisburg possibly every other day to carry perishable goods, foodstuffs and the like and will probably pick up cars loaded here for return to Harrisburg, provided the cargoes meet the requirements of the embargo.

The crews of Mahlon P. Hartzell and Morris L. Fiegle were expected to seek employment on other trains of the Reading, with many of the men having a large amount of seniority on the line.

Truman Says Coal Strike Is Nearing Strike Against U.S.

Washington, May 9 (AP) — President Truman said today the coal strike is slowly and gradually approaching the stage of a strike against the government and that various methods of coping with it are under consideration.

But as for government seizure of struck mines, Mr. Truman said only he will cross that bridge when he comes to it.

The President also declared at a news conference that he would favor seizure of America's railroads if that were necessary to keep them running. There was no amplification on the point.

Replying to a question, Mr. Truman said that he is going into the matter now as to whether he has authority to end the 39-day old coal strike without the consent of John L. Lewis, president of 400,000 striking United Mine Workers.

WORLD PEACE DEPENDENT ON RED ATTITUDE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Winston Churchill calls for a faithful understanding with Russia through the United Nations to avoid war and urges the English-speaking world and the western democracies of Europe to move together in creating true fellowship with the Soviet Union.

That's well spoken. Few will disagree with Churchill for, as he adds, "only in this way can catastrophe be avoided." However, when we sit down to figure out ways and means of creating fellowship with Russia we encounter difficulties.

The first obstacle we come up against is that it takes two to make a friendship, and that it involves at least a modicum of agreement on things which matter. There are as many points of disagreement between the western allies on the one hand and the Russian on the other as there are seeds in a pomegranate.

Huge Obstacle

The trend of the Big Four conference of foreign ministers in Paris gives us a good indication of how the wind lies. The conferees have been unable to agree on any major point of the European peace treaties, and as a result Secretary of State Byrnes has proposed that the drafting of these pacts be shifted to a 21-nation conference in Paris. The division of opinion has been between Russia and the Anglo-American pair, with France frequently trying to hold the balance between them. There has been a similar clash of viewpoints in the security council of U. N.

Well, What's the answer to all this disagreement? I believe that most of the differences arise from two main sources: These are (1) ideology, and (2) the tremendous turnover in the European spheres of influence of the great powers.

In the matter of political ideologies it might seem that the Big Three could agree to disagree, but actually that's far easier said than done. The totalitarian rule of communism is utterly opposed to the democracy of the western allies. Also, more than one of the latter believe that Moscow is engaged in a systematic crusade to spread communism around the world. It's a fear which has dogged the countries of western Europe ever since Moscow proclaimed its idea of world revolution a generation ago. And, of course, the Soviet is equally sure that the western allies are trying to hamstring legitimate communist ambitions.

Red Influences

The dangers in the realignment of spheres of influence have been emphasized in this column before. A tremendous vacuum has been created in Europe by the disappearance of Germany and Italy as powers. That vacuum must be filled, and Russia is surging into it. Britain finds her position both on the continent and in the Mediterranean heavily challenged. He would be a rash prophet who predicted that this battle of giants could be halted before the realignment of domination has run its full course. The best one can do is pray that the turnover can be effected without another war.

The great changes have been accompanied by vast secrecy. That, naturally has created violent suspicion—and suspicions are breeders of trouble. Report has it in Paris that the United States and Britain have been considering the idea of insisting that Russia lift the lid of secrecy from eastern Europe so that the rest of the world can get a look. One wonders just what good that would do, for we know we should find that Moscow has consolidated the whole of that vast area, and the Balkans clear down as far as Greece and Turkey, into the red sphere of influence. That's a fait accompli.

So as previously remarked, it isn't easy to figure out ways of creating fellowship with Russia right now, and undoubtedly Moscow finds the problem equally difficult.

Red Influences

The dangers in the realignment of spheres of influence have been emphasized in this column before. A tremendous vacuum has been created in Europe by the disappearance of Germany and Italy as powers. That vacuum must be filled, and Russia is surging into it. Britain finds her position both on the continent and in the Mediterranean heavily challenged. He would be a rash prophet who predicted that this battle of giants could be halted before the realignment of domination has run its full course. The best one can do is pray that the turnover can be effected without another war.

The great changes have been accompanied by vast secrecy. That, naturally has created violent suspicion—and suspicions are breeders of trouble. Report has it in Paris that the United States and Britain have been considering the idea of insisting that Russia lift the lid of secrecy from eastern Europe so that the rest of the world can get a look. One wonders just what good that would do, for we know we should find that Moscow has consolidated the whole of that vast area, and the Balkans clear down as far as Greece and Turkey, into the red sphere of influence. That's a fait accompli.

So as previously remarked, it isn't easy to figure out ways of creating fellowship with Russia right now, and undoubtedly Moscow finds the problem equally difficult.

STORM MARKET TO BUY BUTTER IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, May 9 (AP)—It looked like a circus in downtown Philadelphia today as 8,000 to 9,000 men and women stormed the Reading terminal market to buy butter.

The New Jersey federated egg producers cooperative put 12,000 pounds up for sale at the ceiling price of 55 cents a pound—one pound to a customer. Another 8,000 pounds were promised later in the day.

"We're out to break the black market," declared Irwin Kramer, the cooperative's sales manager.

First in Seven Months

Butter-hungry Philadelphians started gathering at 6 a. m., three hours before sales got underway. Twenty policemen went on duty an hour later as the crowd swelled to 2,000. The force had to be doubled as the line of eager purchasers, three and four abreast, stretched four blocks through central city streets. There was laughing and joking as the thousands waited.

Second in line was 82-year-old Harriet J. Taylor who said she had not had any butter in seven months. Ahead of her stood 50-year-old Mrs. Ludie Minnick, who showed up at 5:45 a. m.

Inside the market, boxes of butter and crates of eggs were piled head-high at the cooperative stall. In addition to the six tons of butter on hand, there were 300 cases of eggs.

"This will break the black market in butter," declared Kramer in a statement, "just as we broke the black market in eggs at the same stall last summer."

Fight New Delaying Actions On Big Loan

Washington, May 9 (AP)—Scenting victory in a battle that began April 15, Democratic leaders battled new delaying actions today in an effort to win Senate approval of the $3,750,000,000 British loan.

The Senate arranged to meet at 11 a. m. and vote at 1 p. m. (EST) on a move by Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) to cut short further action. Johnson contends that the pending bill is a revenue-raising measure which the Constitution requires the House to vote upon first.

Administration leaders said they are confident they have the votes to beat this, but Senators Eastland (D-Miss.), McClellan (D-Ark.), O'Daniel (D-Tex.), and others planned to demand next that the Senate pigeonhole the loan bill to take up strike control legislation.

But Democratic Leader Barkley (D-Ky.), held firmly to his de-termining to get a vote on passage of the loan bill before any other measure is considered.

Good Trees and Good Taverns

About the finest stand of timber in our county is on Asa Fullmore's farm. Asa says it's due to "regulation"—checking on trees that don't come up to standard, and trimming them off to give the other trees a chance for healthy livelihood.

He was explaining it to us in Andy Botkin's Garden Tavern, and Andy nodded approvingly.

"The same goes for any industry," says Andy. "Like the brewers who give us tavern keepers beer to sell. If they find the place isn't up to standard—clean and courteous and wholesome—they start giving warning. Then, if the warning isn't heeded, they start trimming!"

From where I sit, self-regulation within the brewing industry has done as much to give us pleasant, wholesome places to enjoy a moderate glass of beer, as Asa Fullmore's forestry has done to keep his white pines tall and healthy. It's nature's own protection—and the best there is!

BULLETS RALLY TO DRUB F-M BY 10-5 SCORE

Gettysburg college's baseball team came from behind to defeat Franklin and Marshall at Lancaster 10-5. The Bullets and Diplomats were tied at 5-all at the end of the ninth but the Plankmen shoved over five tallies during a big rally in the tenth to clinch the decision. F. and M. got off to a 3-0 lead with single runs in each of the first three frames. Gettysburg finally broke the lead 5-4 with a three-run outburst in the seventh but F. and M. tied the count with a lone run in the last of the seventh.

Joe Cervino paced the 16-hit attack for the locals with five safes, including a pair of doubles. Russ Augst yielded but six safes and whiffed 12 batsmen.

The Bullets next meet Bucknell on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Barons Hold Slim Lead In Eastern

The Wilkes-Barre Barons occupied top spot in the Eastern league by a half-game margin today after defeating a one-run win over Binghamton.

Two Wilkes-Barre tallies in the second inning and another in the sixth proved enough for the 3-2 verdict last night despite a two-run outburst by the Triplets in the eighth.

Cold weather helped Wilkes-Barre to first place by forcing postponement of the game between Scranton, previously tied for the lead, and Utica.

It was cold too at Elmira where 44 chilled fans watched Righthander Andy Dault whitewash the Albany Senators 5-0 and at Williamsport where the slim gathering of 327 end-swept spectators saw Shortstop Charlie Aikley drive in two runs with a single in the ninth to give the Hartford Chiefs an uphill 5-1 victory over the Grays.

Fairfield Upsets McSherrystown 8-2

Fairfield won its second straight game in the Adams County Independent league by defeating McSherrystown 8-2 Wednesday evening at McSherrystown. The game was postponed from last Saturday due to rain.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

Lexington, Ky., May 9 (AP)—What you hear around the meeting of the American College Public Relations Association: . . . First a rumor that Skippy Minisi is leaving the Naval academy and that Bob Penimore, the Oklahoma Aggies' All-American, will be at West Point next fall. . . . No one can explain how a guy who was classified 4-F as long as Bob can pass the rigid physical exams for Army officers. . . . Amos Alonzo Stagg, who last played the Wildcats in 1926 when he was Chicago coach, is coming back next October 26 with his College of Pacific team. It was arranged at the coaches meeting in St. Louis last winter as Stagg's "swan song." . . . "Happy's Pappy," Joseph Chandler, father of the baseball commissioner, is forming an independent ball club here, known as the "Chandler All-Stars." . . . The team will give any ball club a run for its money," Pappy says—including Mexicans?

NO CHANCE AT ALL
Dutch Gray, a Pittsburgh boy, is playing second base for the Fulton, Ky. club in the Kitty League. . . . His wife is writing the baseball news for the Fulton Daily Leader. . . . What chance does that guy have when he starts the customary squawk: "It would be a hit only that dumb scorer called it an error."

A HORSE ON US
Lexington is the center of Kentucky's horse country, but it wasn't until this spring that a riding stable was established in the city. . . . Folks hereabouts ride in automobiles and bet on horses. . . . Nevertheless, visiting the horse farms is a sight that shouldn't be missed. The scenery is beautiful, and there's an added thrill when you drop in at Calumet and see Whirlaway—still Mr. Long-tail—or see old Man O'War at Faraway farm or drive into Walnut Hall (bigger than you can imagine) to see the grave of Peter Volo.

at the same time watch some of his newborn descendants kicking up their heels in the green pastures. . . . Then there's the Keeneland track—just over the fence from where Lord Boswell was foaled. . . . It looks more like a racetrack should than any place we know except maybe the historic track at Goshen. . . . And for the benefit of the college publications, they served a burgeo there yesterday. Tastes like chili without the beans.

Trenton Giants Pace Interstate

(By The Associated Press)

Trenton's Giants continued to pace the class B Interstate league today, extending its win streak to four straight by sweeping a double-header with York and increasing its lead over the idle, second-place Hagerstown Owls to one and a half games.

Trenton defeated the White Roses last night, 3-1 and 7-2, at York. Allentown and Wilmington climbed into a tie for third place—Allentown nipping the Harrisburg Senators, 7-5, while the Blue Rocks upset Lancaster's Red Roses, 1-0. The defeat pushed Lancaster into fourth, a half game behind. Hagerstown and Sunbury were not scheduled.

JOHNNY PESKY RATES HIGHEST OF SHORTSTOPS

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

In a year when the major leagues boast the greatest array of shortstops in the history of baseball, the Boston Red Sox' Johnny Pesky stands out today as probably the finest of them all.

Boosters of Phil Rizzuto of the New York Yankees, Lou Boudreau of Cleveland, Cecil Travis of Washington, Luke Appling of the Chicago White Sox, Vern Stephens of the St. Louis Browns, Marty Marion of the St. Louis Cardinals, Pee Wee Reese of Brooklyn and Eddie Miller of Cincinnati might put up a strong argument for their favorites, but the figures prove Pesky stands now at the top of this brilliant cast.

The five-foot-nine-inch lad who only a few years ago was a club house boy out in his native Portland, Ore., and who only last Monday was stopped one hit short of tying the major league record of 12 consecutive hits, tied another stand yesterday when he tallied six times in a 14-10 slugfest, won by Boston over Jimmy Dykes' Chicago White Sox.

Pesky erased the former American league high mark of five held by Lou Gehrig and Jimmy Foxx among others and joined Mel Ott of the New York Giants as the only modern to accomplish this feat. Guy Hecker holds the all-time high of seven made in 1886 with Louisville of the American association.

Including the four hits in yesterday's game, Pesky has garnered 39 in 91 times at bat for a .429 average to lead both leagues in batting. He also has scored the most runs—30. In his first year in the big league—1942—before he joined the navy for a three-year hitch, the 26-year-old shortstop led the circuit in hits on a 331 batting mark.

With Ted Williams, Rudy York and Bobby Doerr joining Pesky in the Boston hit parade, the American league leaders slammed four Chicago pitchers for 17 safeties to set a new club record of 13 consecutive victories, topping their 1939 skunk by one.

Chandler Again
The New York Yankees remained three and a half behind the Red Sox when they triumphed over the St. Louis Browns 5-1. Spud Chandler joined Mickey Harris of the Red Sox as the majors' only five game winners by holding the Sewellmen to three hits.

Detroit's Hal Newhouse and Cleveland's Bobby Feller, who with Chandler and Boston's Tex Hughson, are expected to fight it out for the league's pitching leadership, each hurled a masterful game with Newhouse blanking the Washington Senators, 1-0, and Feller whipping the Philadelphia Athletics, 5-2. Fireballer Bob Fanned 11, allowed only six hits.

Don Padgett's pinch-hit home run in the 10th inning gave the Brooklyn Dodgers an 8-5 victory over the Cincinnati Reds and kept the Brooks a half game behind the National league leading St. Louis Cardinals.

With Dave Koza besting Pittsburgh's Fritz Ostermueller in an all-lefty pitching duel the New York Giants advanced into a fifth place tie with the Pirates by shading the Bucs, 1-0.

Phil Cavarretta, Lou Stringer and Ed Waitkus, led a 14-hit attack with three hits apiece as the Chicago Cubs trampled the Boston Braves, 10-5, to move into third place in the National league.

The St. Louis Cardinals protected their first place lead with a 5-3 triumph over Philadelphia's Phils in a night contest.

'Whitey' Kurowski's Brother At Penn State

State College, Pa., May 9 (AP)—George (Whitey) Kurowski, crack third baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals, has a counterpart in college baseball circles—his brother, Ray, also known as "Whitey."

Ray, 23-year-old ex-G.I., is one of the mainstays of the Pennsylvania State college team.

A second-baseman, Ray's coach, Joe Bedenk asserts the younger Kurowski is "a good man to have around when the game is tight—he's a good fellow in the clutch."

The Penn State star says the "Whitey" nickname is a byline of the Kurowski family. Only one of his five brothers and four sisters is not blonde—"we're all known as Whitey."

Ray insists he isn't interested in a professional baseball career, but admits if an opportunity comes along "I won't turn up my nose at it, but first I want an education. And then a job that's good and steady."

Ten Members Of Bullet Squad Served 26 Years, 11 Months For Uncle Sam

Gettysburg college's orange and blue Bullet baseball nine is jam-packed with world war veterans. They provide the backbone of the squad, dominating practically every position.

From their ace hurler to utility fielders, the Bullet baseballers are veterans of the war recently concluded, and some are wearers of the Purple Heart.

Ten of the diamond artists are veterans whose combined service for Uncle Sam total 26 years and eleven months. Nine years and three months of this service were spent overseas.

The following is a brief sketch of the ten veterans:

RUSSELL J. AUNGST
Russell J. "Lefty" Augst, 23, is a native of Pine Grove, Pa., a senior at college and toes the slab for the Bullets.

At Westover Field, Mass., he was classified for heavy bombers and sent to the Chatham Field, Ga., replacement training unit, then to Mitchell Field, N. Y., staging area, and Dow Field, Bangor, Maine from where he flew to Italy, September 8, 1944.

Out of Italy he flew 50 missions over Germany, Austria, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Italy. On his third mission his ship was plastered and Augst was wounded in the head for which he received the Purple Heart. Landing in Yugoslavia the Partisans, under Marshal Tito, helped him make his way back to Italy in eight days.

Augst wears the Air Medal with three oak leaf clusters and a unit citation. He flew back to the states in May, 1945 and was discharged October 2, 1945.

READING—WHERE AND WHAT

Nothing in life is so productive of peace and gaiety of mind, as happy reading. And it matters little where, and what you read, so long as it gives pleasure and intellectual gain. Dr. Johnson was once noted reading a noted book "leaning and swinging upon the low gate into the court of Mrs. Thrale's house, without his hat." And it is told of G. K. Chesterton, that he was seen "one cold day in Spring, leaning in the rain against a budding tree, absorbed in the pages of a little red book."

Shelley, it is said, never seen without a book in his hand, which reminds me of Harry Kemp, the poet, who goes about everywhere, Winter or Summer, with his cap and a copy of Keats in his hip pocket. Kemp has recently written a "Reply" to Omar, in an interesting and pungent poem. Now, when you meet him, he will have this poem to sell to you, and will autograph it for you on the spot, with a pen made from the quill of a sea gull!

I like to read my Longfellow's "Evangeline" when at my camp in Nova Scotia, my Gissing's "Private Papers" in my library at home, my Thoreau at any time among trees and waters, my "Roadmender" at any time or place, to soothe my mind, and if I ever visit "sunny Italy" I surely will take along my Gissing's "By the Ionian Sea." And I should like to have a copy of Emerson's "Essays" with me, to read before bedtime, upon a visit to Concord.

Charles Lamb preferred to read at home, though he sometimes did read in the open. And many a one has gained a liberal education, at no cost, merely by hourly browsing among books in the University of the Bookshops. Happy is that one, who can read a book at any time—anywhere!

So great a book reader was Macaulay, that Sydney Smith once stated he was "a book in breeches." He would even read the classics while walking. William E. Gladstone read "Ivanhoe," "lying on his stomach on the hearthrug." Napoleon read books rapidly during the lull between battles, and would throw them out of the window, leaving behind him "a trail like that of a paper chase." The glory and serenity of books, however, are most gained in quiet hours.

"The Love of learning, the sequestered nooks, And all the sweet serenity of books."

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "On Watering and Enriching The Mind"

STOCKING LINE
My mother thought it shocking to say "stocking" right out loud, and she never went to buy them where she thought there'd be a crowd.

She stood blushing at the counter where such things were being sold, and 'twas always in a whisper that her stocking needs she told.

In my time of knickerbockers mother purchased them for me. They were black and ribbed and rugged and were gartered at the knee.

But my mother held the notion, mid-Victorian, I declare, Men should never know that stockings were a part of ladies' wear.

Undisturbed, she ordered stockings for her children. For herself she pointed very shyly to the boxes on the shelf.

And I can't imagine mother, any morn at half-past nine, On a busy downtown sidewalk in a nylon stocking line.

FAMINE RELIEF SUPPLIES SHORT SAYS LAGUARDIA

Washington, May 9 (AP)—UNRRA

Director General Fiorello LaGuardia declared today that famine relief food allocations are "grossly inadequate," and besought countries with available supplies to help "prevent a catastrophe."

LaGuardia placed before the 48-government council of the international relief organization the results of his study and efforts since the group adjourned five weeks ago at Atlantic City. And the situation outlined in his report appeared as bleak now as then.

Even before the session opened, a council move was anticipated to back LaGuardia in seeking a bigger allocation from the combined food board, set up by Britain, Canada and the United States.

Outlook Uncertain
LaGuardia declared in his report that UNRRA at present cannot learn "even a month in advance what it can count upon." This situation places receiving countries "in a hopeless position in attempting to plan food rationing," he added.

Saying that unless he could obtain a commitment he could depend on for at least a month in advance until the next crop, together with "firm" commitments for the remainder of 1946, LaGuardia asserted:

"The director general cannot possibly discharge his duties or prevent a chaotic food situation during the months between now and the harvest."

Sees '47 Shortage
Again and again, he emphasized that UNRRA was not seeking "more than an equitable share of available food supplies." But, given this, he said that it would be possible to prevent starvation in Europe during the "critical" spring and summer months.

At the same time, he said that the harvest would not solve the world food crisis.

"The efforts of both the individual members of the United Nations as well as the existing organizations," he said, "will be required if the world is not to see a repetition in 1947 of the situation with which we have been, unsuccessfully, attempting to cope during the spring of 1946."

Says Efficiency Must Top Emotion In Nation's Defense
Middletown, Pa., May 9 (AP)—General Henry (Hap) Arnold, former chief of the Army Air Forces, said some high military officials "place emotion and tradition above military efficiency" in their fight against President Truman's plan for unification of the armed services.

Arnold, here yesterday on an unofficial visit to Olmsted Field, declared some persons in Washington "would still be fighting wars with covered wagons, Mississippi river boats and Wright's first airplane."

"The time has come for us to profit by our experiences in the war," Arnold said "to set up an organization with maximum efficiency, maximum striking power, and minimum expense."

Arnold left here for Washington, where he said he was trying to learn what his status will be, adding he understands there is now a bill in Congress that will make him, Admiral King, and General Marshall sort of "elder statesmen" on military affairs.

Since his retirement from the Air Forces Arnold has bought a ranch near Sonoma, Calif., and said jokingly he is now called "farmer Arnold."

Reconvert Farm Show Building
Harrisburg, May 9 (AP)—The $3,000,000 state farm show building, transformed by the army during the war years into a huge training school and airplane engine overhaul plant, is being reconverted to its original role as the world's largest showplace of agricultural products under a single roof.

Recent removal of army equipment and machines left the way open for extensive remodeling projects by 100 workmen in an effort to get the structure into shape for the 1947 show scheduled for January.

"We're hoping for a bigger and better farm show next year," Agricultural Secretary Miles Horst told newsmen during a tour of the building yesterday, "and we're expecting to attract our usual 100,000 to 125,000 people a day during that week."

Highlighting the new improvements are extension of the livestock exhibit section to nearly double its original size; laying of a new composition flooring in the main commercial exhibit area, and a complete revamping of the lighting system with the erection of 2,500 fluorescent lamps and 20 miles of conduit.

HEROIC ACT
Chicago (AP)—Frank Brown's heroism in rescuing three small boys from Lake Michigan apparently cost him $400.

Brown, who saw the boys clinging to an overturned home-made boat as he passed the scene in his 30-foot cabin cruiser, took them to the Coast Guard station. He said he had lost his purse containing $400 during the rescue.

Hanover Must Change Town Tax Handling

As the result of a ruling handed down in the Quarter Sessions court at York by Judge Ray P. Sherwood, the Hanover borough council has been forced to change its method of collecting the borough taxes. Heretofore, the borough has collected its own taxes through the borough secretary and staff at the borough offices each year after the duplicate has been offered to the regularly elected collector at a one per cent commission and rejected by him. Now, Judge Sherwood has ruled that the regularly elected tax collector must collect the school, county and borough taxes. Irvin G. Houck was elected tax collector in Hanover last November.

The method heretofore employed by the borough council in collecting its own taxes has proven very satisfactory both to the taxpayers and to the borough officials, Hanover reports indicated.

The borough duplicate, under Judge Sherwood's ruling, now must be turned over to Mr. Houck. The 1946 tax ordinance passed by council in February sets the commission rate for collection at one per cent.

Green Blames CIO For OPA Crippling

Philadelphia, May 9 (AP)—William Green, national president of the American Federation of Labor, says the CIO is partially to blame for the crippling amendments attached to the House-passed Office of Price Administration extension bill.

Green told the 44th annual convention of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor yesterday that a bloc of Republicans and southern Democrats oppose automatically any CIO-supported measure.

"This is a tragic situation which organized labor faces, as a result of the division in the ranks of labor and the unsound politics which the rebel movement espouses," Green asserted, adding bluntly:

"Congress is not in revolt against the President. It has declared legislative and political war against the CIO."

Iranian Negotiations Break On Demands

Tehran, May 8 (Delayed) (AP)—A special attorney for the Iranian foreign office said tonight that negotiations with a delegation representing the self-proclaimed autonomous government of Azerbaijan province had broken down because of "the exaggerated demands" of the Azerbaijan leaders.

The attorney said that Iranian Premier Ahmed Qavam had refused to meet the Azerbaijan demands "because he is conscientiously following the letter and spirit of constitutional law."

The spokesman asserted that the Azerbaijan delegation was persisting in these demands "because of Russian sponsorship and the knowledge that the Red army still backs them."

There still was no official information as to whether the Russians had withdrawn all their troops from Azerbaijan province in fulfillment of a Soviet-Iranian agreement concluded on April 5. Prince Mozaffar Firooz, Iranian propaganda minister, was not in his office and a secretary said he was ill.

Washington, May 9 (AP)—Although the Republican national convention is two years away, friends of Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio already are pushing him for the Presidential nomination. Allentown Bakery Resumes Production

Allentown, Pa., May 9 (AP)—The William Friehof Baking Company shut down since Sunday in a dispute which idled 200 workers and halted bread deliveries in this area, was back in production today.

Company Attorney Tracey Taylor said an "understanding was reached" at a management-union meeting last night. He declined to give details of the agreement or explain the causes of the shutdown.

The workers are members of Local 159, Bakery and Confectionery Workers (AFL). Firm President Ross Miller said in Philadelphia that "all plants of the company are in full operation again."

FIRST ARMY WAS "SPEARHEAD" OF YANKEE FORCES

By HAL BOYLE

Berlin, May 9 (AP)—One year ago this week the finest army that ever fought under the American flag ceased battle operations, its victory won.

This was the United States First army.

Because neither of the two men who commanded it had a flair for personal publicity, it never had the acclaim won by General George Patton's famous Third army. It galls many wearers of the square black "A" shoulder patch that the public and some staff officers of the Third army still believe that Patton engineered the break through at St. Lo, took Paris and made the initial crossing of the Rhine.

All these and many more battle feats were performed by the First army. No outfit has suffered more from the public adulation of that great and grand figure, George Patton, than the patient First army.

Let's thumbback the old battle maps back on the wall, and give them an anniversary gander.

Took Paris — First in Germany
They show us that it was the First army that spearheaded into Normandy in the greatest amphibious operation of the war.

It was the First army that captured Cherbourg, first great continental port to fall.

It was the First army that broke the German defensive crust at St. Lo, turning the battle of France into a hare-and-hounds chase. Some Patton divisions were in the attack but the main wedge was First army troops.

It was the First army that took Paris. The American Fourth Infantry division had to boot skylarking French tankmen into town to claim the glory of liberating their own capital. The Third army was miles away and heading toward Metz.

It was the First army that first entered Germany on September 11, 1944.

Other Firsts for First

It was the First army that captured the first German city, Aachen. It was the First army that first crossed the Rhine river by the epic seizure of the Ludendorff bridge at Remagen.

It was the First army that made the longest armored march in history in a single day during the smash from the Rhine, a feat accomplished by the late Maj. Gen. Maurice Rose, commander of the Third Armored division.

It was the First army alone that attacked simultaneously in two directions, taking more than 260,000 prisoners in the "Rose Pocket" in the Ruhr to the west while driving steadily eastward toward the Elbe river.

And it was on the banks of that stream that the First army first made contact with the Russians, ending Europe's greatest squeeze play and the war.

The First army was led in turn by Gen. Omar N. Bradley of Missouri and Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges, a gentleman from Georgia who began army life as a private. Patton and the Third army did a swell job. But he does not need and never wanted the credit that belongs to the First U. S. army.

MISS SWEENEY DIES

Greensburg, Pa., May 9 (AP)—Elizabeth B. Sweeney, 74, former state registrar for the Daughters of the American Revolution and a sister of E. Arthur Sweeney, Greensburg publisher and former state Secretary of Welfare, died Wednesday in the Mercer, Pa., sanitarium after a two-year illness. Funeral services will be held Friday.

CHARMING — Actress Madge Evans wears an original Capri royal blue suit dress with a short fitted bolero jacket, printed blouse and tailored skirt.

Dravo Death Brings Picket Suspension

Pittsburgh, May 9 (AP)—Pickets were withdrawn from the Dravo corporation plant on Neville Island as a mark of respect by 1,450 striking CIO production workers when they learned of the death yesterday of V. B. Edwards, president of Dravo.

Edward 56, died suddenly of a cerebral hemorrhage while addressing a directors' meeting in the plant. He had been associated with the shipbuilding firm for his entire business career, since his graduation from Lehigh university.

Strikers are preparing to vote on new contract terms offered by the company. Roy Granata, national representative of the CIO-Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, said the negotiating committee has recommended acceptance of the terms and that a favorable vote by the workers will mean almost immediate resumption of work.

FEARED SPLIT OF EUROPE IN RIVAL ZONES IS NEAR

Washington, May 9 (AP)—The long-feared split of Europe into rival Soviet-western spheres is close to an accomplished fact, diplomatic authorities said here today, because of the failure of the foreign ministers' conference at Paris.

Taking a pessimistic view, these authorities look for impending developments to complete the cleavage between the areas of Russian dominance and those under the influence of the western powers, headed by the United States and Britain.

A final factor in the division, they believe, will be Britain's announcement in the next few days of support for Secretary of State Byrnes' proposal for long-range control of Germany—a proposal sharply assailed in the Soviet press.

Byrnes Plans

Foreign Minister Bevin reportedly was cool to the Byrnes' idea at first but upon study was said to have revised his opinion and given Byrnes private assurances that he favored its main principles. These assurances may be followed soon by some public statement along similar lines from the London government.

Byrnes advocated a 25-year treaty among the United States, Britain, Russia and France to keep Germany from making war again. Russia immediately objected to the proposal and has continued to do so.

Byrnes took the treaty proposal to Paris in the hope that if all other methods of establishing peace in Europe seemed to be failing he could at least win Big Four agreement on a formula for removing Germany from the arena of power politics. At worst, he believed that the treaty proposal would provide a test of the willingness of the powers to try to agree.

Russia's brusque reaction to the proposal has served to make it, in the American and British view, a symbol of the long-feared split, foreshadowing Europe's division into competing spheres of influence.

Home Building Program Collapses

Pittsburgh, May 9 (AP)—Members of the Home Builders Association of Allegheny county, meeting yesterday, estimated that of the 6,500 houses they plan to build this year, probably not more than a fourth will be completed before 1947.

Officials estimated $3,500,000 invested by builders and banks is tied up in uncompleted houses in the county. Increasing shortage of building materials was among the things blamed for the collapse of the county's home building program.

Press Search For Escaped Prisoner

Bellefonte, Pa., May 9 (AP)—State police and prison guards joined today in a search for a prisoner who escaped from the Rockview state penitentiary while working in the prison's creamery.

Deputy Warden Clarence Rhoades identified the missing man as Adam Andrew Topa, 25, sentenced from Wayne county for one and one-half to three years for burglary. Rhoades said Topa was five foot, 9½ inches tall, weighed 150 pounds, light complexion, light brown hair, and had on a prison fatigue suit when last seen.

ADMINISTRATION ASKS HOUSE TO REVERSE STAND

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY

Washington, May 9 (AP)—The administration made a final, desperate bid to break the deadlock over President Truman's emergency housing program today by asking the House to reverse its positive anti-subsidy stand.

Chairman Spence (D-Ky) of the banking committee told newsmen: "If the vote for approval of subsidies fails, the program to build 2,700,000 houses in two years will be blown up."

The outcome plainly was in doubt. Not only did the House reject such payments for building materials but later decreed an early end to present subsidies designed to hold down food prices.

The housing bill came back for another vote because the Senate-House conference committee assigned the task of trying to compromise different versions dealocked on the administration's proposal for $600,000,000 in so-called premium payments to manufacturers of scarce building materials. Described by Mr. Truman as the "very heart" of the legislation, these payments would be in lieu of general price increases in an effort to hold down the cost of new homes.

Turns to Compromise
The Senate voted to authorize the subsidies after the House had rejected them on a 161 to 92 vote.

Neither body would yield when their conferees sought to iron out the differences.

Thus Spence turned to a compromise proposal. He said he would move that the House instruct its conferees to concur in the Senate bill, but on condition that the subsidy figure be cut from $600,000,000 to $400,000,000.

Republicans and a block of southern Democrats who defeated the subsidy proposal when it first came before the House early in March, argued that housing expediter Wilson Wyatt is given ample authority to carry out his 2,700,000 housing units program without resort to premium payments.

Settlement Looms At Westinghouse

Pittsburgh, May 9 (AP)—Early settlement of the drawn-out strike of 75,000 Westinghouse Electric Corp. production workers in a dozen states was predicted in off-the-record utterances of company and union officials last night.

One spokesman said only agreement on the height of the wage raise was needed. The CIO-United Electrical workers asked 18.5 cents an hour; the company offered what it said was 15.1 cents but which the union rejected, saying it amounted to only 9.7 cents.

Our dealers join us in making this frank report to THE FARMERS OF AMERICA

INTERNATIONAL Harvester is getting back into production with all possible speed. Extra shifts are being employed wherever conditions permit, to try to overcome the production losses of the recent strike. Everything is being done to get parts and machines to you.

While we and our dealers would like to tell you that this means an immediate end to the shortage of service parts and machines, it is more accurate to say that it means the beginning of the end of it. If illness or bad weather delays you seriously in the Spring, you know how much it throws you off your schedule. The strike has thrown our schedules off balance, too. There are many "chores" we must do before new machines reach you.

Material shortages

The preliminary chores of getting our plants back into shape for full production are finished. But disturbances in other industries and resulting material shortages may affect our plans. Light gauge steel sheets, brass and copper, fractional horse power motors, and many other items are all very short. The coal situation may also prove serious—we hope not.

Refilling the well

Both our dealers and our branches have run dry on parts and new machines. So the big chore is to get their working stocks back to normal. It will take time to fill the pipeline to dealers—just as it takes time for you to refill a well or cistern after it has run dry.

Stock and display rooms of our dealers represent not one, but ten thousand reservoirs which must be refilled. The most heroic production efforts will mean that your local dealer can expect only a small number of parts and machines at a time. Since we must play fair with all our customers, there will be a sprinkle of parts and machines all over the country—not a downpour in any one section.

You will be glad to know that all repair parts production schedules are far beyond normal.

No hoarding

You may be sure that every machine will be shipped to dealers as soon as completed. We do not and will not hold machines off the market. At the start of the strike we had on hand at all our factories and branches just 837 tractors of all kinds—less than two days' production—and 405 of these were not completed. Many of those on hand had one or more important parts missing—principally radiator cores. Most of the rest represented the normal daily "float" between the end of the assembly line and the shipping platform. Naturally no tractors were made during the strike.

What dealers may have for you

We can report to you that our current production on TRACTORS is good and we are shipping at a normal rate. Even so, there will not be enough to go around. The situation on PLOWS and DISK HARROWS is reasonably good. On COMBINES, MOWERS, HAY RAKES, ONE-MAN HAY BALERS, CORN PICKERS and many other items, our schedules have been seriously disrupted. We must in fairness say that many of our customers are likely to be disappointed on delivery of these machines. On MILKING MACHINES, STATIONARY ENGINES, and some other small units we are hopeful of making practically normal delivery.

We know you will understand the reasons why your dealer cannot fill your orders overnight. He would like to give you the kind of delivery on machines you would like to get, but his situation is a difficult one and not of his own making. He is doing the best he can.

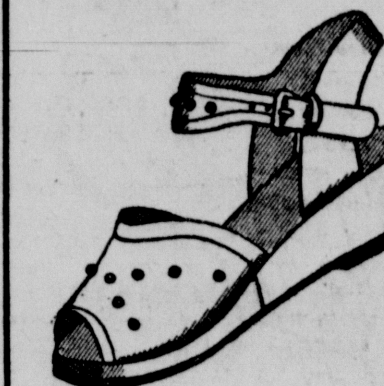

No cutting corners on quality

There is one thing you can be absolutely certain about: We will NOT cut corners on quality in order to increase production in this emergency. For years we have said: "QUALITY IS THE FOUNDATION OF OUR BUSINESS." Today we say it—and mean it—as much as ever. We know you need new machines—and need them badly. But we believe it will pay you to wait just a little while longer if you cannot get all you want immediately. By waiting you can be sure your new equipment will have the quality so rightly associated with INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER for so many years.

GRAIN PRICES RAISED IN MOVE TO AID HUNGRY

By OVID A. MARTIN
Washington, May 9 (AP)—At the risk of new bulges in its "hold-the-line" policy, the Government today posted higher prices for grain in a fresh move to obtain more supplies to aid the hungry overseas.

The price boosts are designed to make it more profitable for most farmers to sell their grain, rather than use it for feeding livestock and poultry—a practice that has been limiting the market supply.

The higher grain ceilings may make some increases necessary in prices of milk and dairy products, Agriculture Department officials said. They also thought it likely that price increases may have to be granted on wheat and corn food products, such as flour, bread, bakery products, corn syrup and corn sugar.

Less Meat Later
No immediate hike was looked for in the price of meats, poultry and eggs. However, if the higher grain prices produce the desired effect, there will be considerably less meat and poultry available later on, for curtailment of grain feeding is expected to cause heavy marketing of fowls and animals in the months ahead.

The grain boosts, effective May 13, up corn 25 cents a bushel; wheat 15 cents; oats 5 cents; barley 9 cents; rye 10 cents, and grain sorghums 18 cents a hundred pounds. Increases also were authorized for protein feeds.

As the new grain ceilings were announced, the 48-nation UNRRA council was called into session here to receive an up-to-the-minute report from Director General La Guardia on developments in the world food crisis and relief picture.

Plan New Discussion
Before it met, Sir John Orr, director general of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, cautioned that the global food situation is apt to remain critical for four or five more years. He urged that a long-range international plan be mapped to cope with the problem.

The long range angle was implicit, to some extent, in a simultaneous announcement yesterday that the combined food board of the United States, Britain and Canada will be continued until next Dec. 31, and beyond if necessary, in view of the world emergency. The wartime board had been expected to end its work by June 30.

President Truman, meanwhile, planned fresh discussions of the situation with Herbert Morrison, of the British Cabinet, who is due here this week-end. Morrison was reported by diplomats to be gravely concerned about keeping the famine threat abroad from playing into the hands of Communists.

Domestically, the decision to increase grain prices may add to Mr. Truman's problems by eventually reviving the question of rationing.

Miners Planning 'Protest' March

Washington, Pa., May 9 (AP)—Matthew Lepovich of Bentleyville, chief deputy sheriff of Washington county and Democratic candidate for Congress, announced that 5,000 soft coal miners and Westinghouse Electric Corp. employees, all on strike, will hold a demonstration and parade here Saturday afternoon.

Lepovich said the affair will be a protest to Governor Martin against the seven-week waiting period required for unemployment insurance. Martin, Attorney General James Duff and other Republican candidates are scheduled to speak here Saturday night. Martin is a candidate for the Republican nomination to the U. S. Senate.

The demonstration, Lepovich said, would not be a "political move" but merely a protest on compensation rules and on the Governor's refusal to remove state police from the strike-bound east Pittsburgh plant of Westinghouse Electric Corp. Martin said previously the police were sent to Pittsburgh to enforce an anti-mass picketing injunction.

There are about 250,000 U. S. workers engaged in processing and delivering dairy products.

NIFTY PRETZELS

REMINISCENCES of 70 Years in Gettysburg By DR. HENRY STEWART ARCHITECTURAL CHANGES Center Square

The southeast corner is still recognizable, with the exception of the old Harper home—another old family, of whom there are none left. They, father and son, established and conducted the first newspaper of the town, from 1800, for more than 60 years. The northeast corner has already been described. On the west side, the only recognizable buildings are the Shick house (Dougherty and Hartley's) and the Mitchell restaurant, in the corner room of which R. M. Elliot had his shoe store.

The largest single change in the face of the town which was made by the Hon. Edward McPherson, the "McPherson Block," the southern half of the west side of the first square of Baltimore street.

First was the Star and Sentinel building on the site of a two-story frame house which then housed the paper, in the rear, entering between two store rooms on the street—in 1888.

Bank Buildings Improved
The Columbian building followed in 1892, the Crawford building in 1894 and the remodeling of the Fahnstok building.

The banks also made a considerable contribution in later years. The Gettysburg National bank was at its present location but occupied only half of its present frontage, though it was for the time a rather pretentious structure. (See my Gettysburg Album.) The other half of the lot was then occupied by the residence of its cashier, Mr. Emory Blair.

The First National bank was in much less pretentious quarters in the back building of what had originally been a two-story brick dwelling on the corner of the Square and Chambersburg street, facing that street. The first floor of the front building had been converted into a store, occupied by J. M. Minnigh, confectioner, later by Charles McCullough, restaurant. The back building, facing the square was the bank. Its doors were "guarded" by the two cast iron lions in front of the G. A. R. post room.

In 1886 or 1887, the bank was considerably improved and occupied the front building—the back building had become the post office. Subsequently the whole corner gave place to the present bank building. The cashierships of Major Robert Bell and Samuel Bushman covered very many years of the bank's history.

Assembly Halls
McConaughy's Hall was a ramshackle building, frame, on the site of the present Times building. It had been for many years the only (I think) such place in the town. When I knew it, it had long been rated as "condemned," by whom nobody knew—but it was still used until about 1884 when the assembly room had become the meeting place of the Sons of Veterans. It had been the second floor, originally—but was then the third, for the cellar had become the first floor by the lowering of the street level, elsewhere noted. This first floor was for many years a restaurant and bar-room run by Charles Tate. Do you remember our only Chinese Laundry, at the south end?

Agricultural hall was on the second square, West High street, south side. The building is still standing, cut up into dwelling houses by J. Emory Blair. It was designed for the in-door exhibits of the annual fair of the Adams County Agricultural Association. This was formed in 1867, when the first fair was held. I do not know how long it lived, but it was definitely past its prime in the late '80's.

The Lake Atlas of 1872 shows the plan of the grounds—the usual pattern, race track in the center, stables along the east side, cattle pens on the south and west sides and the indoor exhibits, as stated—the usual pattern of a country fair. The ladies exhibited their jellies, preserves, embroidery, patch-work quilts (remember them) and all sorts of domestic items.

The awards were generally very diplomatically arranged so that everybody got something. I remember ber getting a "certificate of merit" from Col. Fahnstok for some scroll saw work—alas, I realized later how crude it was. The fairs usually lasted about three days, with the prime attraction the horse races in the afternoons.

Throughout the rest of the year the hall was used for shows, concerts, school "exhibitions" and public gatherings of all sorts. I remember the appearance of Blind Tom, the freak Negro pianist. Here the Salvation Army held forth when it first appeared in the '80's.

The "Opera House"
It came next in this role, built by "Col." McClellan, I think in the early '80's, though I have no data on it, and do not remember what it replaced. In its external form, you see it pretty nearly as it was built. For its original purpose, it was very short lived, for some time in the '90's it was absorbed in the expansion of G. W. Weaver and Sons store.

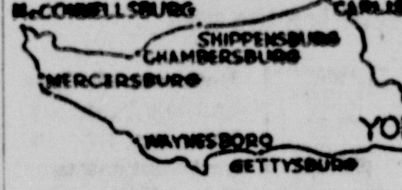

Xavier Hall succeeded to these functions about 1900 with it you are all acquainted.

I think the only other amusement facility, which was also used for "festivals" by the fire company and other organizations for money-raising projects, was the roller skating rink on West Middle street, second square, which had a great popularity in the early '80's, and lasting for a considerable period.

IRAN INDICATES FULLER REPORTS ON RED TROOPS

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH
New York, May 8 (AP)—Iranian sources indicated today—amid a stony Soviet silence—that they hoped to report soon and conclusively to the United Nations security council on the departure of Russian troops from Iran.

The Iranians appeared satisfied with the council's action yesterday in deterring further discussion of the Soviet-Iranian issue until May 20 to obtain fuller information on which to determine its next move.

As Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala prepared to return to Washington today, a spokesman for Iran said he expected a "conclusive" report from his government well before that date.

The council, in the face of Russian Delegate Andrei Gromyko's boycott of yesterday's meeting and the continuing silence of Moscow on the council's request for information on Iran, decided not to call on Russia again for the status of Red Army withdrawals.

Ask More Information
Instead, on the motion of U. S. Delegate Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., it took into account "the communication and travel difficulties in that remote area" and asked Iran to supplement her preliminary report of May 6 as soon as possible or report any information whatever not later than May 20.

Ala reported in a memorandum to the council Monday night that four northern provinces had been cleared but that interference in a Azerbaijan prevented Iran from ascertaining whether the evacuation there was complete.

There was no opposition to the Stettinius resolution from either France or Poland, which previously had supported Russia's unsuccessful attempts to have the Iranian case dismissed from the agenda.

Russ Implications

The council adjourned without setting a date for its next meeting after a 43-minute session at which the Russian boycott brought from Australian Delegate Paul Hasluck the assertion that "it seems the Soviet Government has ignored this council."

Hasluck demanded that the council "obtain from the absent member a clearer idea of what he claims is the effect of his absence."

Britain's Sir Alexander Cadogan declared "the absence certainly does imply some sort of evasion of responsibility of obligation," but he discounted Hasluck's contention that the absence of a member, even one with veto power, might stall the council completely.

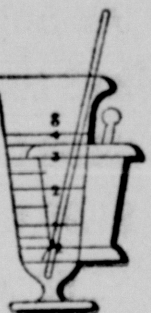

Asks Clarification
Hasluck contended that the council or some other competent U. N. body must clarify the veto issue and decide what action may be taken when a delegate absents himself. He said each member "acts in a representative capacity that extends beyond the representation of his own government," and added:

"Can we entertain a situation where a member x x x can select an occasion on which he does not choose to act as a representative? If we entertain that idea for a mo-

Expect Decision On 105 Slot Machines

Brookville, Pa., May 9 (AP)—A decision was expected today from Judge Jesse C. Long on the disposition of 105 slot machines seized by state police in raids on Jefferson county clubs and lodges last month.

At a disposition hearing yesterday, Alex G. Scribner of Brookville, representing the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Eagles club, declared he thought the $3,492.00 found in the machines should be given to charitable organizations.

An attorney for Leo Bhrer, in whose home 47 of the machines were confiscated, agreed the machines should be destroyed. He asked they be wrecked so thoroughly no parts would be usable.

District Attorney William A. Sykes had asked that the machines be destroyed and that the money be turned into the county treasury.

Ants are said to have the most powerful jaw grip, proportionately, among insects or animals.

ment, it would undermine the whole structure of this body.

"If, in addition to that, we entertain the other proposition that a member by absenting himself could also prevent the council from taking action then we not only fail in our duty as representatives but I suggest that we defeat the whole purpose for which this body was created."

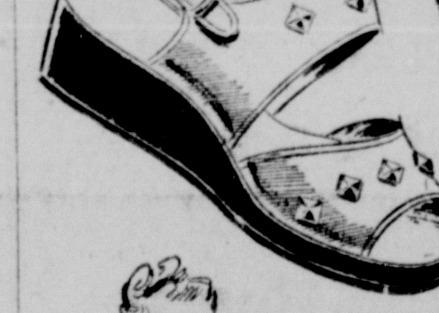

Cadogan retorted that "the absence on one of our number from this table does not halt the council. We sit here and function."

SEIZING MINES DOES NOT MEAN MEN MUST WORK

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, May 9 (AP)—Here are answers to questions—which may have puzzled you—about the critical coal strike.

Can the government seize the coal mines? If so, why doesn't it? The President, under his wartime powers which he still has, can seize the mines. The government several times seized struck mines during the war.

But the President has no power to compel the miners to return to work. If he seized the mines but the miners stayed away, he'd have a red face and no coal.

On occasion miners stayed away in wartime when the government took over struck mines.

Union leaders argue that their men are not striking, that they're staying away from the mines because their contract has expired and they can't work without one.

There's no law compelling a man to work. But the government could jail anyone who urges the miners not to work or threatens them if they do.

Conspiracy Charges
The charge would be conspiracy to interfere with the government's operations of the mines. This is always hard to prove.

If the government seized the mines and the union leaders just sat back, keeping mum, they couldn't be accused of telling the men not to work. Yet, without orders from the union, the men very probably would stay away.

Weren't a number of miners arrested in wartime on conspiracy charges? Yes. The department of justice charged 162. Of that number 143 were convicted. But of the 143, only one got a jail sentence, a one-year term. The others were given fines of less than $100 each.

The government said these men were trying to keep the miners from work by pleas or threats. The arrests didn't scare miners into going to work.

How does the government seize a mine?

Raise Boosts Prices
Since this is how it worked in wartime, the President probably would do it this way again.

He'd tell the Interior Department's Solid Fuels Administration—which is the government branch dealing with coal mines—to take over. No troops would be used.

The SFA simply would tell the mine owners the government was seizing the property and ask the owners to run their mines for the government.

The owners would keep separate books while the government was in charge.

If the miners and owners finally agree to a pay raise for the workers, will that mean an increase in coal prices?

Almost certainly.

Can the owners just grant a pay raise and then raise their prices?

Regulate Prices
No. If the pay raise is going to mean a price raise, the government must approve both to keep both from going too high. That's the government policy on all pay raises that mean price raises.

Can the government tell the owners how much of a pay raise to give?

Only to this extent: The government can't tell the owners how small a raise to give. Indirectly—the government can put a limit on the amount of raise to be given.

That's because the higher the pay raise, the larger the price increase owners will want for their coal.

Since the government is trying to keep prices down, it can tell the owners:

"If you give the miners a raise up to such and such a figure, we'll let you raise prices so much. But if you give a bigger raise, then you can't get a price increase to make up for that."

Missing Car Dealer And $6,792 Sought

Charlottesville, Pa., May 9 (AP)—State police today were seeking a missing used car dealer and $6,792.

The officers said information was furnished them that when two used car dealers met on a plane, one of them offered to sell the other several good used cars at Charlottesville.

The prospect cashed a draft for $6,000 in a Charlottesville bank and, he told officers, gave $6,792 in cash to the man who offered the cars.

The "seller" then walked into the front door of an auto market here, the prospect said, and apparently went right on out the back door.

The prospect said he was left stranded in Charlottesville with $8 and no automobiles.

American Proposal For Modification Of European Armistice Terms Gains

SINGLE BRIGHT SPOT IN TALKS BY MINISTERS

By LOUIS NEVIN

Paris, May 9 (AP)—Prospects for adoption of an American proposal to ease Armistice terms for Europe's vanquished nations improved today as the foreign ministers' council began its third week of conferences amid an otherwise generally pessimistic atmosphere.

On the agenda was U. S. Secretary of State James P. Byrnes' suggestion that the big four foreign ministers recognize their failure to agree on vital differences by shifting the task of drafting peace treaties to a 21-nation conference, which some quarters speculated might last six months.

The deputy foreign ministers, meanwhile, continued listing their apparently complete disagreement on most major points of the peace treaty drafts in a balance sheet to be presented to their chiefs later in the day. The balance sheet was called for following Byrnes' proposal to call a general European Peace conference in Paris June 15.

British Fall in Line

Byrnes told the conference yesterday that the ministers at Moscow last December promised the world a peace conference. Britain and France gave prompt support to Byrnes' suggestion but Russia demurred. All three said they would have to consult their governments.

A member of the American delegation said the United States did not believe it was necessary to submit a hard and fast treaty to the peace conference, but that drafts, including the points in dispute, should be turned over to the Peace Conference as a basis for work.

The British, at first most strongly opposed to Byrnes' proposal to lighten the Armistice burden on the defeated nations, were reported failing in line as it became apparent that the peace treaties could not be written quickly. The British had hoped for swift action on the treaties to avoid changing Armistice terms.

Russ. French Support

Prior to the conference, dispatches from Moscow said Russia had no objections to Armistice revisions and French sources said France would support Byrnes, who was said to be ready to press the issue.

Meanwhile, it was learned that a four-power committee of experts had abandoned for the present proposals for international administration of the Port of Trieste because of Russian insistence that the Port's sovereignty must be decided first.

FRUIT OUTLOOK BETTER IN PA.

Harrisburg, May 9 (AP)—Fruit prospects throughout Pennsylvania are better for 1946 than they were a year ago, with the possible exception of cherries.

The State Agriculture Department reported yesterday that while below-average temperatures retarded crop growth generally "conditions are far advanced for this time of year."

"Peaches and pears in the north-east are in full bloom," the report said.

The past week He was accompanied by Mrs. Gladfelter.

Miss Evelyn L. Eisenhart is reported doing very well at her home after her discharge from the Warner hospital where she underwent an appendectomy more than a week ago.

The consistory of Zwingle Reformed church here met on Sunday afternoon at the church.

A young son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hoak, near Two Churches, has been suffering with an injured face as the result of a recent fall from a bicycle.

Donald, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Mummert, was ill at his home during the past week.

Bonneauville

Bonneauville—Leo Storm and son, Robert are spending several weeks at Port Meyers, Florida.

Mrs. Agnes Chevallier and family moved this week to a home in Maryland which she recently purchased.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wachter and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wachter and said, "Apple blossoming is mostly over, and in the southeast some early strawberry blossoms were nipped by frost."

In the matter of grain the report said "most corn ground is plowed, but very little has been planted, winter wheat is growing slowly, the oats crop shows considerable variation and needs rain, while in the southeast barley is making nice progress."

Hay was reported quite short, due to continued dry, cool weather. Some alfalfa, clover, and timothy was frosted in some western counties. Pastures were furnishing some feed in most sections of the state, but the grass was still short.

The report on vegetables said "peas in bloom in southern counties are showing damage from dry weather. Asparagus offerings have been very light. Spring planted spinach has started to move in light volume. A few snap beans have been planted and preparation of tomato ground is well along."

family, of Emmitsburg, were recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Myers.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zorbeck, of Baltimore, spent the weekend with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Orndorff.

Joseph Clabaugh received his discharge from the Coast Guard service last week and returned to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clabaugh.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sneeringer attended the graduation exercises of St. Agnes' Hospital training school held in the Lyric theater, Baltimore, Tuesday afternoon. A daughter, Miss Anna Sneeringer was a member of the class.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 9 (AP)—C. E. Weimer, 33, brakeman, was killed in the collision of a caboose in which he was riding and a Monongahela Connecting railroad locomotive on Tuesday at the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation Second avenue plant.

STATE DEPT. NOW BETTERS TIME SET BY GREEKS

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, May 9 (AP)—The original Greek marathon runner took two days to carry a message from Athens to Sparta 26 miles away.

That may not seem speedy now, but the man had to swim rivers and climb mountains. Besides, it happened in 490 B.C.

But—until recently it took an ordinary messenger from four hours to two days to go from one state department building to another in Washington.

The department has offices in 37 buildings, and it has 180 messengers.

Decoding Tedious

Messages—telegrams, cablegrams, letters, inter-office memoranda, documents—are the lifeblood of the department.

They flood in every day—some 11,000 items of correspondence.

Some have to be decoded and put into readable English. Some have to be mimeographed or copied as many as 60 times.

This is done to give them the widest and fastest possible distribution among the people who have to see them.

They come from embassies and consulates abroad and from state department people, officials of other departments, and citizens.

In the past, as now, an urgent message could be delivered with fair speed by sending a messenger on a special delivery errand.

But it was the delivery of ordinary messages that bogged down and took as much as two days, sometimes more.

This situation has been corrected now.

Now the average time is 30 minutes to 2½ hours to deliver an ordinary message from one state department building office to an office in another building.

Speeding up the messenger service was just one of the modernizing jobs Secretary Byrnes had to tackle when he took office a year ago.

The task of bringing the messenger service up-to-date fell upon Donald S. Russell, Byrnes' former law partner whom he made assistant secretary in charge of running the department on the inside.

Russell brought in a number of experienced men to work out the details. Mostly, they were former army officers who had run big army message centers, such as in General Eisenhower's headquarters in England.

Now messengers circulate around their buildings every half-hour, picking up messages and delivering them to their message centers. From there they are sent directly to their destination.

Arriving at the message center there, they are picked up and delivered to the specified offices by messengers making the rounds every 30 minutes.

Springfield, Ill., (AP)—Robert L. Dove and Clyde A. Roberts staged a neck-and-neck race at the April 9 primary for one of the two Democratic nominations for state representative in the 40th district.

The Illinois state primary canvassing board has officially declared Dove the winner—by a half vote. His total was 11,013½.

Half votes result when a primary ballot is marked for two candidates in representative races, with each candidate receiving 1½ votes. The top nominee polled more than 13,000 votes.

MYTH

Salt Lake City, (AP)—Emery county's phantom creek with the odiferous name has been getting undue publicity on Utah maps for 60 years, says Geologist Charles B. Hunt.

Since 1885, "striking spring creek" has appeared on maps of a primitive area of the state.

Now Hunt will guarantee that stinking spring creek isn't there. He spent five years hunting for it.

DISPIRING SOLUTION

Fremont, O., (AP)—The city jail's housing problem had a lot of people making "rye" faces today.

Officials had stored 128 cases of whisky in two cells following seizure from haulers operating without licenses.

The whisky was poured "down the drain" by order of Mayor Bernard Hawk to make room for additional prisoners.

CHOO CHOO RUNAWAY

Gluck, Minn., (AP)—The Minnesota Western roundhouse now has plenty of ventilation.

Foreman Frank Prindle explains it was all an accident, however, the throttle slipped while he was backing a locomotive into the roundhouse and the engine went through the rear of the building.

Chapter 2

"Everything will be different when you're not here."

Whitney Hamilton spoke softly as she and Paul Scott walked slowly through the gardens of Random Polly the night he came to say good-bye before he left for his navy training at Quantico Point. Bright Virginia moonlight softly touched the big rambling pre-Revolutionary house with serene and unforgettable beauty. Generations of Hamiltons had been born and lived out their days on this estate called Random Polly.

"Random Polly will be the same when I come home. It never changes," Paul said in a low voice as they walked through the old gardens hedged with box more than two hundred years old. Whitney heard the little catch in his voice. "I'm going to remember you, darling, just the way you are tonight—in this garden in the moonlight with Random Polly back of you protecting and guarding you until I come back again."

Quick tears sprang into Whitney's eyes. Paul, who was always so matter-of-fact, who prided himself on his practical reactions to everything, really feeling the soft spell of the summer night and her nearness! A tide of happiness poured over her. If only she could hold this moment—make it last forever—

"Paul," she slipped her arm through his and her sweet husky voice trembled in spite of her effort to control it. "We could be married here tomorrow. In the morning, Uncle John would do it. You don't leave until two o'clock."

He bent down and kissed her. "No, honey. That can't be. I'm not going to let you in for anything like that. This is a tough war and it may be a long one. I'm not going to make it harder for you by adding new responsibilities you can't dodge while I'm away. I'm looking after you better than that."

"Then don't treat me like a child. I'm old enough to take it. I'm grown up but nobody seems to realize it. You sound just like Polly and Spuds, too. You'd think he was my grandfather instead of my brother-in-law!"

"Well, maybe we're right at that. Marriage is serious business and at seventeen you should be having fun—"

"Fun!" Whitney flared back at him. "When the boys I know are away fighting and I'm lonesome and the older girls are all busy and I have to go back to school and there will only be kids to dance with—"

Paul's laugh rang out in the quiet garden. His lean tanned face was boyish in the moonlight, but his blue eyes were grave as he said an instant later.

"There are going to be a lot of men in and out of Washington while I'm gone and they won't all be kids either—and I leave behind me a girl with red-gold hair, big brown eyes and the loveliest complexion in the Tidewater. Not to mention the fact that she rides and dances and plays tennis superbly. It's screwy—all right—"

His voice trailed off uncertainly. "I count on you, Whitney. I have ever since you were four and I took you home from your first party. The loyalties of the world are always safe in the hands of the Hamiltons and the Scotts—knowing that gives a man something to fight for. Now let's go down to the stables—I haven't told Grey Goose yet I'm going away."

The days that followed were busy ones for Whitney. In the deepening gloom of a war that transcended everything else in life, Whitney and her sister, Polly Wilson, took up their share of war work in Washington and opened a small apartment in the capitol in order that their exacting routines might be faithfully carried out.

As a Washington debutante, joint heiress with her sister Polly to the luxurious estate, Random Polly, Whitney found the days not long enough for all she wanted to do after she left school. Time passed quickly. Then it was 1945. Paul was somewhere in the South Pacific and sometimes the weeks would lengthen into months before she would hear from him.

One Fall day in 1945 Polly asked her sister to meet her in Washington's exclusive Club 84 for luncheon. Polly had telephoned from the country. She said it was urgent enough for Whitney to break a luncheon date to meet her. For some weeks past, Whitney had managed to by-pass any family discussions with her very keen older sister. Now she knew a family "conference" could no longer be avoided.

Whitney glanced around uneasily as the club members sauntered in for their leisurely luncheons. Whatever else might be happening in a world at war, luncheon at Club 84 was never hurried. If you didn't have the time, you just didn't go there at noon. Evidently Polly had the time today—she must have seen the society page in last night's paper. Whitney looked down at the morning paper folded back to the social column. The item she had marked had been copied from the Evening Tribune.

"It is rumored that Mrs. Horace Wilson will soon announce the engagement of her popular debutante sister, Whitney Hamilton, to a well-known attaché of one of the embassies here."

"Hello, my pet. Sorry to keep you waiting," Polly exclaimed a minute later as she hurried over to the table. She glanced at the paper lying in front of Whitney as Rudolph seated her. "Of course you know I'd seen that, too," she continued abruptly. "Surprise is hardly the word to describe my emotions. No one ever tells me anything. All I know is what I read in the papers!"

Whitney smiled at her sister across the table. After all, Polly would understand how casual it all was. She slanted the dark blue cap of her Voluntary Services uniform at a slightly defiant angle over her right eye before she spoke. At that moment she was sure her new Sam Brown belt and faultlessly tailored white shirt with its formal

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent urination, aching back, and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

FINDS REICH "DEVASTATED WASTELAND"

By HAL BOYLE

(Editor's note: Boyle's column today is in the form of a letter to his wife, Frances.)

Berlin, (AP)—Dear Frances: Coming back to Germany is like revisiting an old acquaintance and finding him in the throes of cancer.

You may not ever have liked him, but you hate to see anyone in that condition.

You remember a year ago I wrote you of the vast devastations we saw as General Hodges' First Army was moving eastward for its junction with the Russians on the Elbe river? Great Festering Wound

I could write you the same things today. The face of Germany remains the same. The rubble and ruin of war have been cleared from the streets, but there has been little, if any, rebuilding in the damaged cities.

This whole country is still one festering wound. After 12 months the people are still suffering from the shock of defeat. They are growing more hungry now and as they grow hungrier they grow more resentful and emotional.

After flying to Frankfurt from Rome, I took a two-day jeep trip through agricultural Bavaria before coming on to Berlin by train. The difference between country and city in Germany is the difference between life and death. War has made no fundamental change in the existence of the old Bavarian farmers.

Devil Finds Work
They have stored away plenty of food. Geese and chickens peck the edge of manure piles before their quaint old timber and plaster houses. Their friend and master is still the soil as it has been for centuries, their first enemy the weather.

To drive through Bavaria's rolling green acres now, past pink and white flowering trees, is to know Germany at its most beautiful.

But the cities—they are full of unhappy, hungry and idle people, for whom the devil is finding work because Uncle Sam, Uncle Joe, and their friends have not been able to find a formula among themselves to help Germany seek its own salvation.

There is so much to be done. All roads are in terrible shape except Hitler's famous autobahns. Hundreds of peacetime industries that could be revived are lifeless. Little effort has been made to restore the shattered stores and dwellings.

Self-Pity Thrives
Everywhere on the streets you see empty sleeves and empty pants legs—the war cripples. You feel less sorry in some way for them than you do for the able-bodied, for at least they have an excuse for idleness. The Teutonic mind craves certainty, and in Germany there is nothing but uncertainty today. German character is deteriorating into dangerous self-pity, because the people see no way out, no future. They want a new note on a new bugle.

They still remain individually honest even in hunger—and in the cities every third sentence from the average German deals with food. If you left three chocolate bars on your hotel bureau top in Naples and returned a day later, all three would be gone.

If you did the same thing in Rome, two would be gone. If you did it in Frankfurt or Berlin, all three would remain untouched. At night each main street in a German city in the American sector is a lover's lane for GI's and German girls. For all the official hullabaloo that is raised over this, I think these youngsters are the most natural people in this incubator of world hatred called Germany. They at least are finding love among the

HOME GARDENS STILL NEEDED TO FEED WORLD

By LEONARD A. UNGER

Harrisburg, May 9 (AP)—Home gardening, a wartime boon in alleviating food shortages, remains of unprecedented importance, state agriculture Secretary Miles Horst said today in making a plea for increased production to aid starving Europeans.

The present scarcity of grains and fats and by fall an expected reduction in dairy products and eggs, he asserted, means that consumers will be forced to rely upon vegetables and fruits than ever before.

Besides helping to stem the world's rising food shortage, families with home gardens and large quantities of home-canned vegetables "will be thankful next winter that they have a store of cheap food on hand," Horst added.

Not Too Late Now
Gardening this year should be started without delay, he said, since it is not too late for the planting of most vegetables in Pennsylvania.

The recent cool, dry weather has retarded germination and growth of early planted seeds, Horst declared, but the late planted gardens have excellent prospects of coming through with satisfactory production under favorable weather conditions.

Metropolitan area, where home gardens are largely out of the question, will drain heavily upon the supply of commercial vegetables, the Secretary explained in urging more ruins and if their love is twisted it is no more twisted than the world of suspicious Allies in which they live.

Yours truly,
Hal

gardens in rural and smalltown sections.

Planning Farm Show
The Pennsylvania State Farm Show Commission meets here today to listen to suggestions from farmers on the needs for the 1947 farm show.

The Commission, composed of three delegates from each of 42 state-wide agriculture organizations, will reconvene tomorrow to consider setting a definite January date for the first postwar Farm Show.

Reversion of the Farm Show building has been started by Army engineers, Horst said. Following the last show in 1942, the Army leased the 10-acre structure for the training of airplane workers and the reconditioning of airplane motors. The building was vacated in February.

ruary.

Burning Poor Policy
Research Foresters in the Department of Forests and Waters said today spring burning does not improve pasture of hay lands.

"In fact," one Forester pointed out, "it does irreparable damage to the fertility of the soil."

One section, carefully studied and examined by the Foresters working closely with forest-fire Wardens, showed that burning pasture lands in spring not only failed to improve the grass, but cut grass production in half in a single year.

The grasses and other valuable forage plants were replaced by weeds that were worthless for forage.

The same area provided an easy course for water runoff, causing erosion of the soil in many spots.

MARTIN SELECTS '48 INDICATOR

Philadelphia, May 9 (AP)—Election of six GOP Congressmen in Philadelphia this November, Governor Edward Martin of Pennsylvania maintains, "will guarantee that the next president of the United States will be a Republican."

Martin, seeking the Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate now held by Democrat Joseph F. Guffey, told 1,400 persons at a political rally last night "the eyes of the entire nation will be sighted on Philadelphia."

"If Philadelphia elects six Republican and opened a brush edge of a near-by woodlot to a drying sun, making the timber vulnerable as an easy mark for fire."

EX-SCHOOL HEAD DIES

Allentown, Pa., May 9 (AP)—William L. Connor, 57, former superintendent of Allentown public schools, died Tuesday in Seattle. Washington, his family were advised today. Connor and Dr. George D. Strayer, professor emeritus of Columbia university, were conducting an educational survey in Washington state.

CYCLIST KILLED

Waynesboro, Pa., May 9 (AP)—Thrown from his bicycle in a collision with an automobile, Paul L. Weagley, 50, Waynesboro, died Wednesday in the Waynesboro hospital.

Calling upon all levels of government—national, state and city—to act, Mr. Truman said "it is not intended that the federal government shall encroach upon the rights and responsibilities of the states."

Truman Asks Action On Highway Deaths

Washington, May 9 (AP)—President Truman said Wednesday the challenge of this country's mounting highway death toll "must and will be met."

"The nation cannot afford and will not tolerate this tragic waste of human resources," the Chief Executive said in an address prepared for the highway safety conference he called in alarm at accident figures approaching 1941's grim record.

Calling upon all levels of government—national, state and city—to act, Mr. Truman said "it is not intended that the federal government shall encroach upon the rights and responsibilities of the states."

The annual spring Music Festival of the East Berlin school will be held in the school auditorium on Friday at 8 p. m. Miss Dorothy Miller is supervisor of music and W. W. Clark is in charge of the instrumental groups. No admission will be charged, but a collection will be lifted.

To Give Three Plays
On Tuesday evening, May 14, at 8 o'clock, the class of 1946 will present three one-act plays in the school gymnasium. Admission to these plays will be 25 and 50 cents.

"Of All Things," a comedy by Carter Blacksmith, will be presented first. Carl Snyder, Patricia Harner, John Gordon, Mary Louise King, Florence Markle, Earl Myers, Eugene Himes, and Marian Hoopes will appear in this comedy.

Next will be a mystery play "TEA AT FOUR," by Richard Hill Wilkinson, in which Clarence Poe, a wealthy Englishman, is stabbed to death; Jarvis, the staid butler, is played by Charles Smith; Renna Myers, Prue Neville, Sir Robert's granddaughter; Allen Blaine, Sir Robert's private secretary; Gordon Wolf, Charles Altland is the police inspector while Roy Chronister is his assistant; Nora, an Irish cook; Doris Kinter; Marie, the French maid; Dorothy Brown; Ordway, the chauffeur; Emmert Hartzell.

The third one-act play is "JOHNNY GOES HAYWIRE" by Don Pierre. Arlene Snyder plays the part of Babs, a movie-struck, small-burnett who is in love with Babe; Martin Allemen, Cary Montague, a movie actor, Babs' idol; Virginia Slothour, Lenore Dodge, Babs' friend; Catherine Inskip, Eileen Sutton, Babs' widowed mother; Lloyd Jacobs, Don Waldron, an impersonator. Between plays music will be furnished by individuals and groups.

In the baseball game against Biglerville last Thursday evening on the East Berlin diamond, it was necessary to play an extra inning to determine the winner which was East Berlin. However, the victory became a costly one when Whitey Myers, pitcher, received a badly sprained ankle when he collided with the Biglerville second baseman. He had to be carried from the field, and Genie Himes finished the pitching chores in good style.

Schools Closed As Measles Control Move

Bridgeton, N. J., May 9 (AP)—Bridgeton elementary schools have been closed as health and school authorities took steps to curtail spread of measles.

Classes were dismissed yesterday until Monday, after 40 cases of measles were reported to bring the total for May to approximately 80. Wilfred A. Jenkins, Jr., president of the board of health, also directed that children under 13 years old were not to be permitted to attend movie theatres the remainder of the week. He asked cooperation of Bridgeton residents in keeping children away from any public gathering until Monday.

CEILING OFF INKS
Washington, May 9 (AP)—OPA today exempted inks for paper printing from price control. It also discontinued controls on photographic trays made wholly or partly of rubber, and on photographic chemicals except those containing silver salts.

Subway construction was started in New York as early as 1869.

No One Mentions Pigeons Now To War Assets Body

Washington (AP)—Anyone who mentions pigeons around the war assets administration these days gets the bird.

The Bronx bird, that is. Although the last pigeon has flattered out of the war assets administration's life, the memory, and the correspondence, linger on.

It's a sad story, so grab your hanky. Last fall the signal corps decided 20,000 of its little message-toters no longer were needed. So the government began peddling its pigeons.

By the middle of February, 1,561 pairs had been sold for $9,055. Well done, you say. But hold on a moment. An average-appetized pigeon will stow away $4.92 worth of groceries a year. The 17,000 pigeons the government still had cost $6,970 a month for food alone.

Obviously, the government was losing dough, hand over pigeon. Trying to wipe the red ink off

GOOD SUPPLY OF STUFFED SHIRTS IN STATE DEPT.

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, (AP)—The State Department, next to OPA, is the most widely criticized and praised of all government agencies.

The department handles our foreign affairs but, stiff and sedate from long-time silkhat diplomacy, it has resisted change more than any other agency.

It still has a good supply of stuffed shirts and some long-winded gentlemen. But it is undergoing change at last, and has been for several years.

Secretary of State Byrnes is trying to speed the change, which isn't easy. And there's a good explanation for why it isn't easy:

Special Way of Life
For years working in the State Department has been like entering upon a special way of life:

One did this and so but when one did it, he did it this way and not that way. There was a way of doing things, and they were done that way.

Call it redtape, call it stuffiness, call it anything you wish. But it was like that, and much of it still is like that.

There are people working there who, if their names are not mentioned, don't mind being critical of some things and people in the department.

They want the change from the old ways speeded up and probably some of the older people there are not too happy to see the old ways trampled on.

Career Diplomats
The career diplomats of the foreign service recently got a going over by the House Appropriations Committee which okays the money the Department can have.

Rep. Rabaut, Michigan Democrat and chairman of the subcommittee which dealt specifically with the State Department, said:

"There seems to be a feeling that has grown up that the foreign service is bigger than the Department of State."

Rabaut said the career diplomats seem to feel that Secretaries of State may come and go but career diplomats go on forever.

Salaries Not Large
Businessmen and army officers with experience in organization or management have been brought into the department to bring it abreast of the time.

They say their No. 1 reorganization problem is finding new quarters so more of the work can be done in fewer than the present 42 buildings.

The department is pretty well filled with ordinary help like typists and clerks, but it constantly is seeking specialized people like economists or management planners.

Trained people are not too easy to find. Government salaries are not large. The average salary in the department in this country is $3,100 a year. Many make more, of course, but many make less.

GUARD AIR WING UNITS PLANNED

Harrisburg, Pa., May 9 (AP)—Organization of Pennsylvania units of the National Guard's 53rd Air Wing will begin early in June.

Maj. Gen. E. J. Stackpole, commander of the Pennsylvania National Guard, announced the Wing will have 2,948 men based at Harrisburg, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Reading and Scranton, with other units in Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Besides its combat strength of two light bomb squadrons and three single-engine fighter squadrons, the Wing will have headquarters, communications, signal construction, aircraft control and warning, radar calibration, utility and depot units.

Commanding officers have not yet been announced.

Location of units "was influenced to a large extent by the capacity of the airports situated near those cities, with length of runways a determining factor," Stackpole said.

He added they will be based at Northeast Airport, Philadelphia; Greater Pittsburgh Airport, Harrisburg State Airport, and the Scranton and Reading Municipal Airports.

"Contingent upon the conclusion of satisfactory arrangements between the federal and state governments and the municipalities concerned, with respect to the use of existing structures or the construction of new hangars and other necessary housing facilities."

Thomas Griffe who were recently married. Mrs. Griffe before marriage was Miss Frances Chronister. The band members were treated to soda and ice cream.

Milton Face, who has been living at the Cross Keys hotel has bought a trailer and will park it on Paul Chronister's land.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sweigert, York, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Butt Sunday.

"There seems to be a feeling that has grown up that the foreign service is bigger than the Department of State."

Our 16TH ANNIVERSARY SALE

Here at Community, we're still young enough to get all bouncy and excited over Birthdays. This week it's our 16th. A long time ago in one way, but only yesterday it seems, in another, when we home town merchants, decided back in 1930, to league together to provide folks with better and more thrifty service.

What we like to think about best, looking over those crowded happy years, is the ever increasing number of staunch friends we've made along the way—dewy-eyed brides, greying grandmothers, busy home-keepers with flocks of hungry mouths to feed, city folks, country folks, big shots, little shots... so many thousand we can't begin to count them.

But we know you all by name, every one of you, because that's our manner of doing business. And to each of you, we say now: "Thanks a lot for your friendship, your patronage, and your loyalty to us over these long and busy years!"

FINDS GERMANS NOT SO HOT AS FIRE FIGHTERS

By HAL BOYLE

Coburg, Germany (AP)—Teutonic efficiency gets in its own way when it comes to putting out fires.

Despite all their wartime practice in wetting down civic bonfires lit by Allied Bombers, German firemen still don't compare with their hose-coupling brethren in the United States.

Such is the opinion of Capt. Frank Norton of Boston, Mass., attorney and son of a Hub City district Fire Chief.

As American Military Government Public Safety Officer of the Coburg district of Landkreis, Norton is responsible for fire and Police protection and the prosecution of German civilians who violate Military Government restrictions.

Like the Army

"The German Fire Departments work just like the German Army," said the Captain. "The Fire Chief must first enter the burning building and estimate the situation before they start throwing any water."

"When he has figured out the percentage of fire and smoke, they get busy. They usually manage to save the basement."

"They don't go to the fire holding on the back end of the truck with their shirttails flying in the wind. They have a closed cab on the fire truck. They all climb in and sit down and ride to the fire like gentlemen."

"The professional firemen here couldn't get jobs as amateurs back home."

Norton has only 26 paid firemen in the Coburg district which includes three small cities and 129 villages and therefore has to lean heavily on volunteers.

He has no help in his job as Fire Marshal and only one Lieutenant and an enlisted man to assist him in preparing evidence for court cases and in superintending five separate German Police forces.

Price Ceilings Are Altered By OPA

Washington, May 9 (AP)—OPA yesterday raised retail price ceilings on typewriters and removed price controls on table salt, baking soda and scores of other products, most of them minor items.

Both actions are effective immediately.

Retail ceilings on portable typewriters are being increased 3 1/2 per cent. The price hike is 12 per cent for other typewriters and business machines, including calculators, cash registers and dictation, duplication, addressing and bookkeeping machines.

Manufacturers' prices are being increased 12 per cent in each case to compensate for higher labor and material costs. Dealers are being required to absorb about two-thirds of the increase for portable typewriters.

BIKINI ATOLL FAST BECOMES BIG LABORATORY

By DON WHITEHEAD

Bikini, May 9 (AP)—This once sleepy and remote little coral atoll rapidly is being transformed into a huge scientific laboratory.

If the homesick natives who migrated to the island of Rongerik two months ago could return to Bikini they would be appalled to see what the Americans have done to the place they remember as home.

They would understand why they can never come back here to live, even if the blast of an Atomic bomb fails to make ash heaps of every tree and bush growing on the island.

Like Invasion

Seabee bulldozers have ripped and torn their way over the island, clearing roadways through the coconut trees. Trees have been unrooted to clear sites for installations. Thatched huts have either been torn down or are being used to store supplies.

Bikini looks like an atoll in wartime two days after American forces made an assault landing; assault techniques are being used to get the stuff ashore.

"It is just like an amphibious landing, except that no one is shooting," said Commander Kenneth C. Lovell of Mountainburg, Ark. And that is a good description of the operation.

LST's (Landing Ship Tanks) are tied up to floating piers, or are on the beach, where a few weeks ago the Natives put out to sea in their outrigger canoes to hunt for food.

Rapid Changes

Enlisted men are building roads and installations. Amphibious ducks, concrete mixers, stone crushing machinery and huge stockpiles of supplies are scattered among the palms.

Where naked little Bikinians once chased each other across the island sands, Seabees are building concrete Tennis, Basketball and Volleyball Courts and Frame Clubhouses for Officers and Enlisted men. A Tennis Court is laid in two days and 24 hours later is ready for use.

Some 40,000 Army and Navy men will be in this area during the op-
